GLEE CLUBS TAKE PART

One of the greatest musical events ever attempted in central Kentucky will be the presentation of the Central Kentucky Choral society's May Music Festival May 4 and 5. At this time an opportunity will be given the people of Lexington to hear two of the finest concerts ever presented here. The artists' concert will be given May 4. Those comprising the list of entertainers will be the soloists of the oratorio "The Elijah" to be given the following night: Louise Stallings, soprano; Ethel Jones, contralto; Dan Beddoe, tenor; and Edgar Schofield, baritone. These artists have been brought to Lexington at considerable expense from Chicago and New York and each is endowed with voice.

NO PARKING SATURDAY

Because of the congestion which will result from the number of floats in the May Day parade, no parking of private automobiles will be allowed on the university campus, tomorrow from 12 o'clock until the conclusion of the festivities. The Suky circle, which has charge of the arrangements of the day, deemed this action necessary to allow spectators to enjoy the coronation.

Student Council Nominations

the Men's Student Council must

CAMPUS PLAYERS
WILL GIVE PLAY

"Beggar on Horseback" To Be Presented at Woodland Auditorium Under Direction of Prof. W. R. Sutherland

JAZZ BAND IS FEATURE

"The Beggar on Horseback," which is being produced by the Campus
Players, under the direction of Prof.
W. R. Sutherland, will be given at the Woodland auditorium Thursday and Friday, May 6 and 7.

The Campus Players, a student organization, is composed of members of the class in dramatic production.
It resembles the well known Harvard Workshop, formerly conducted by Professor George P. Baker, who is now head of the dramatic department at Yale University.

"The Beggar on Horseback" is one of the most popular comedies of George Kaufman and Marc Connelly, well-known American dramatists.
The story follows a young composer of classical music, Neil McRae, through his struggle to hold to his ideals and ambitions in spite of poverty and the temptation to obtain easy money by writing jazz or popular music.

A special symphony orchestra, a band, and a jazz orchestra will provide the three types of music ne-

Ferguson and Hanratty Become Members of Debating Frat

Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary orators' and debaters' fraternity, held its annual initiation exercises Wednesday night on the third floor of the Science building. At that time Wm. Rudy Ferguson and William Hanratty were made members of the organization.
Following the initiation refreshments were served and election of officers held.

Tau Kappa Alpha is a national honorary fraternity for orators and debators, having 58 chapters. To be eligible for membership a student must have represented his university in an intercollegiate oratorical contest or debate. Members of the local chapter are John Y. Brown, Kenneth Tuggle, J. B. Johnson, J. W. Jones,
G. S. Milam, and John R. Bullock.

"The Plastic Age," Epic of Cinema, Opens Students' Eyes to What They Have Been Missing at the University

(By DAVID ALEXANDER)

We sincerely hope none of you co-eds and co-edgies missed that epic of the cinema called "The Plastic Age." Really, you've no idea what a jolly place dear old "colitch" is until you see university life depicted by the realists of Hollywood.

Hugh, the bashful, but eager hero of the drama, went through four years of academic education which consisted principally of gin, road-houses, motor cars and voluptuous ladies. From all appearances, he never saw a class room. He was instructed in astronomy by lissome co-eds; he learned geography from studying road maps; and he acquired a knowledge of mathematics by memorizing telephone numbers.

No Night Rules

There were no 11 o'clock rules for the girls at Hugh's alma mater. The sweet lasses drove right up in their own automobiles, picked up a date, and whisked him away to a naughty night club. And there was no need of a student being ashamed if he had imbibed too freely of Nate's elixir at a dance. Chaperones were as extinct at that Utopian institution as the Dodo bird, and the girls carried flasks in their stockings.

The boys held bull-sessions in rooms that resembled the executive chambers of the Capitol, while the girls entertained company in apartments like the bridal suite of the Waldorf. Compare these palatial parlors to the dorms and frat houses of your own little university!

Plays Great Game

Hugh seemed to thrive on the licentious life of a libertine. He was in great condition for the football game that wound up his hectic career in a blaze of glory. The time element seems a little confused here. The football game occurred the day before graduation! Anyway, Hugh raced 90 or 65 yards for a touchdown, then dashed into the shower-room,
and out again to grab his diploma and the girl.

"The Plastic Age" is a great picture. It is a visualization of the evangelistic conception of collegiate infamy, and it affords the student, harrassed by irate profs and 8 o'- clocks, a sophisticated satisfaction in viewing the jolly life he is supposed to lead.

Professor Horlacher Called to Washington for Conference

Prof. L. J. Horlacher is in Washington this week where he is attending a conference called by Thomas P. Cooper, Chief of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Department of Agriculture.

The purpose of the conference is to establish standard grades for wool, based on the English numbering system. When this is accomplished wool grades all over the world will be uniform. During the past five years Professor Horlacher has been doing a large amount of experimental work with wool and it is because of this work that he has been invited to the Washington conference.

the prospects for an edition as successful as the one published last year by the students of the university.

MANY ORCHESTRAS HERE

The annual High School week will be held at the University of Kentucky May 6, 7, and 8. The date was originally set for the first week in May, but due to the overcrowded condition at the hotels during the races, it was necessary to postpone the tournament.

Wellington Patrick, director of the Extension Department of the university, announced that the program includes more events than ever before and that between 500 and 600 high school students are expected to take part. Representatives from all sections of the state will enter the various contests.

The musical events are of particular interest. School bands from Georgetown, Louisville Male, Wolf-pit, Ashland and Cynthiana have already entered, also orchestras from Glasgow, Frankfort and Louisville Male. A silver and bronze cup has been offered by the National Bureau for the Advancement of Music, of New York, to the winner of the band contest. The trophy is considered very handsome. It is 36 inches high and is valued at $100.

received by the university R.O.T.C.
band early this week from publishing houses in New York City and will be used in spring concert work.
These selections were given by the Irving Berlin Publishing Company and Shapiro, Bernstein and Company were sent free of charge.

Sgt. J. J. Kennedy, director of the band, had written to these houses requesting price lists and ordering certain late numbers. Shapiro, Bern-tions, "Good Night," "I Love My Baby," "The Prisoner's Song," "Behind the Clouds," "Cross My Heart, Mother, I Love You," and Berlin

This here spring weather ain't af-better. As we was amblin' over toward the French class the other day, he starts the conversation off cheerful by observin' that it looked like a hard winter. I says that he was gettin' a bit previous about it, but I knew how he felt seem' as I hadn't trans-

told us to read, either.

We had just finished wadin' through the story of the three bears, and was about ready for a complicated yarn like little Red Riding Hood, but the instructor had a lot of surplus ambition and handed us a full-fledged volume concernin' Quatre Vents, which means "four winds" in the classic frog lingo we are learnin' to speak. I figured that the four winds was the four principal characters, but we come to find out that Quatre Vents was the name of the town they lived in.

SUKY DANCE POSTPONED

All Classes Will Be Dismissed
at End of the Second

A novel feature of the May Day celebration this year will be the unique manner of disposition of the freshmen caps. A bonfire will be made on Stoll field, and the freshmen will advance in single file to throw their caps into the fire each receiving a receipt. These receipts will be collected, and as no freshman will be allowed to burn a new cap, a check will be made of those who have worn their first year badges faithfully.

A spectacular parade of floats, representing the various organizations on the campus will start from the university at 1 o'clock, and will pass through the downtown district. Prizes will be awarded to the most beautiful and the most comical floats by the Suky circle, and the crowning of the May Queen will take place immediately following the arrival of the May procession on the campus.

The program of senior class exercises which is in charge of the Suky circle, will include the planting of a tree by the senior class, a short talk by William Simpson, class orator;
reading of the class history, by Ava

Addison Yeaman, freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences, will take the leading part in the Stroller play
"Icebound" instead of Alvin Hammel as was previously announced, accord-dramatic organization. This change was necessitated when Mr. Hammel was unable to continue his part because of the pressure of other work.

Has Appeared at Romney

Although this is his first year at the university, Mr. Yeaman has already given evidence of marked dramatic ability. He played in two Ro-many plays this season, taking the part of the poet in "Candida" and of the lieutenant in "Mrs. Goring's Neck-English department production "The Class secretaries are busy getting in communication with the members of their classes urging that they be present for the alumni reunion this year. If you have not written to the members of your class—get busy. There is a list of them elsewhere on this page.

BENEFIT DANCE SPONSORED BY LEXINGTON ALUMNI CLUB

On last Saturday evening, April 24, a dance was held in the basketball building under the auspices of the of the general association. The Kentucky Kernels furnished the music. About three hundred couples were present and as usual seemed to enjoy themselves very much. This was the fourth of a series of dances which has been given under the direction of the local club. Those most active in its arrangements were Marguerite McLaughlin '03, Nancy Innis '17, Marie Markley '20, J. White Guyn ex-'04, Howell D. Spears '07, Viley McFerrin and Reed Wilson. '10.

If so, let me know immediately! Our reunion dinner will probably be on Monday afternoon. Make reservations now!

"Third: Only eleven out of 76 (living) members have paid dues for 1925-26. What is the matter? Has the class of 1911 gone bankrupt? Redeem yourselves and send in that three dollars today!

Now for a parting word, we want a Round Robin for our reunion. To make this it is necessary that every member of our class send in his or her history since 1911. Make it snappy and illustrate with snapshots. To have it bound it is necessary that the sheets be of bond paper and the same size (8 inches by 10 1-2 inches). Mail your letter flat to me as soon as possible! The Robin will be mailed to all members of the Class of 1911 after it is bound. Thus you will see how everybody looks today. Do it now! "Hoping that everyone of you will arrive in Lexington on May 29 and expecting your letter very, very soon, I am, as ever,

"Yours for Kentucky.

LEXINGTON ALUMNI CLUB

Under the able leadership of Miss Marguerite McLaughlin '03, president, the Lexington Alumni club has accomplished much for which its members should feel proud. It was the president who conceived the idea of giving dances in the basketball building as a form of entertainment for local alumni and students and at the same time charge a nominal admission. Four of these dances have been given during the past two years and have been the means of bringing into the treasury of the Lexington Alumni club more than $1,200.00.

Miss McLaughlin began to plan a program with her advisory committee and it was decided to entertain the various teams as soon as the season for each sport had closed. Special luncheons have been held at the Lafayette hotel for the teams and have been well attended by those who are most interested in athletics and other phases of university life. The Suky circle has also been remembered. It has become the policy of the club to have all the members of the circle, numbering about fifty, and at their lun

STARTING A TRADITION

Every institution, if it survives the test of time, gathers about it an ever-growing number of traditions which become hereditary and are observed and respected for generation after generation. Experience shows that once started successfully an annual custom readily develops into a tradition, inauguration of it often proves difficult.

Nu Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa, national campus leaders' fraternity, taken upon itself the Herculean task of starting a new tradition at the University of Kentucky. Following a conference with President McVey last week, the organization decided to inaugurate the custom of having all freshmen burn their caps in a gigantic bonfire on May Day of each year.

Long ago it was a tradition at this institution that every freshman could have his head shaved immediately after matriculation. Realizing that such practices were out of date, university authorities forbade this, and offered as a substitute the wearing of blue and white caps by all freshman boys as an evidence of their neophytism. The substitution has been a brilliant and total success because of failure of a goodly percentage of first year men to cooperate in wearing their caps.

Omicron Delta Kappa purposes to show the freshman that in wearing his cap he is not showing his inferiority. They desire to make him proud of his cap. All students have to go through the stage of being freshmen before they can become upperclassmen; and O.D.K. believes that when it becomes a question of personal honor and responsibility, each freshman will be proud to wear his cap.

Tomorrow, the custom which O.D.K. hopes to make an annual tradition, will be inaugurated. Immediately after the festivities of May Day on the campus proper, all freshmen will go to Stoll field where a huge bonfire will be already prepared. As they throw their caps on the fire, each one will be given a receipt, these receipts will be collected and a check thus obtained of those who have worn their caps.

The success of this experiment rests with the student body and especially with the freshman class. The Kernel believes that it is a worthy movement and one which should have the whole-hearted support of the entire student body. It feels that the best possible way to get the freshmen to wear their caps is through appealing to their sense of personal honor, and a movement such as this is a step in the right direction.

THE LIMITATION OF ACTIVITIES

Girls in the University of Kentucky will be limited in their extra-curricular activities hereafter according to a rating method worked out by the dean of women and the Women's Student Government council. In adopting this so-called "point system" for the non-academic work of its women students, the university is merely following the path made by many of the larger educational institutions of the country which already have such a system.

Some years ago in speaking of outside interests and activities, Woodrow Wilson said, "In the college of today the side-shows seem to have wiped out the main circus." Nearly every one will admit that a certain amount of school activities is beneficial for the ordinary student. The danger lies in paying too much attention to the "side-shows" and disregarding the primary purpose of a college education, which, according to Wilson, Meikeljohn, and other noted educators, is essentially "the discipline of the mind."

In limiting the activities of the girls, the W.S.G.A. and Dean Franke endeavored to set a perfectly fair limit, which while giving more girls an opportunity to participate in activities and preventing any one girl from becoming over-burdened, would not interfere unreasonably with individual zeal and initiative. To this end they further provided that this system should not keep any girl out of any organization to which she might be elected, even if she were already carrying the full quota of points allowed by the system.

There are some students who seem to have a peculiar power or capacity for work by means of which they can perform an amazing amount of work in activities and still make very creditable grades. On the university campus there are a number of such girls who are leaders in both scholarship and activities. Strange as it may seem, these girls as a whole are among the backers of the "point system" and several of them were important factors in the adoption of the plan. The system is still in its infancy but it gives great promise of development and of increasing in favor with the faculty and student body as time goes on.

LUCILE COOK QUEEN OF MAY

I'm down but not out! Don't tell anyone, but Akkie thinks I'm both down and out. You see, since she beat me—Oh about ten votes—in this here race for May Queen, she thinks she's the world's best. However, she's not so good, she only beat me by a neck. Yes, sir, that's it, a neck! Figure it out.

You know, you really ought to see the way Akkie worked it. 'Course at first I couldn't understand what Akkie was up to, but now I see it all! She'd been wearing all her new spring clothes to school no matter whether it was raining or snowing, and primp—Whew! Why, she'd get up a whole hour earlier (can you imagine a Pat Hall girl getting up an hour earlier) just to primp so everybody would say how fresh and sweet she looked in the pure morning light. And then she had a date with every boy that ever asked her, no matter whether he was sans car, sans money, or sans sense, as most of 'em is. Imagine dating like that when she's wearing a pin, and an I Maka Fire one at that. I never heard such carryings on! That pin sure ain't a handicap in her case, it's a service badge. And she even bought some books on the power of the mind which told how to make your worst enemy do what you wanted him to do. It sure worked for Akkie. I read 'em, too, but I guess I missed the cues 'cause not a darn thing turned out right for me this week.

Then another reason why Akkie beat me was due to the I Maka Fires. They sure worked for her. We, I Tappa Kegs, did, too. In fact they had me to stand in front of the administration building to electioneer for Akkie but (don't tell anyone) I electioneered for myself. Hee! Hee! Know how? I told 'em I was Akkie and had so many honors that I didn't want to be May Queen but I wanted my poor little friend, Ikkie, to be it. I began doing that after I saw a certain captain who lives in the mountains vote for me. And to think, all that was wasted and Akkie won, but the best horse doesn't always win, I sweetly tells Akkie.

She informs me that that may be true, but think of all the rating and prestige she is gaining. I said, "Yes, but many a flower is born to blush unseen and waste its sweetness on the desert air. And I'm one of these charming fleurs."

Close harmony

Don't think that a college "sing" is the only place for close harmony. The electrical communication industry, too, has applied the big idea.

Four men put their heads together in the research laboratory—and there evolves a new and scientifically accurate basis for the measurement of speech and hearing.

Construction engineers, whose pole lines stride across country, work hand in hand with purchasing engineers who look forty years ahead for the pole supply of the future.

In the factory, engineers and craftsmen together develop new processes and almost-human machines to increase production and effect economies.

Combined ability—that's the thing! In the words of the song, "a long pull, a strong pull, and we'll all pull together."

'CATS AND CINCY PLAY TIE GAME

Visitors Rally in Ninth Inning
To Even Score After Wildcats Had Taken a Three Run Lead

ALLEN HITS HOME RUN

Allen's home run in the ninth inning with two men on base enabled the University of Cincinnati Bearcats to come from behind and tie the score at 10 all with the University of Kentucky Wildcats, Tuesday afternoon on Stoll field. The game was called at the end of the ninth inning on account of darkness.

At the outset it appeared as if the game would be a pitching duel between Wert and Turnall. For four innings only two men reached first base, but in the fifth inning both teams began to hit the ball and when the smoke of battle had cleared away in this inning it was found that Kentucky had scored three runs and Cincinnati had scored two. From this point on the game developed into a slugging match.

The visitors came right back in the sixth frame and scored four runs. The 'Cats put one run over in their half of the same inning. The seventh was Kentucky's big inning, the entire Wildcat team batting around. The Cincy aggregation scored one run in this frame.

The Bearcats started the ninth inning three runs behind. They were able to get two men on base; then Ethan Allen laced out the home run that tied the score. The 'Cats threatened in their half of the ninth but could not score. With one out and Skinner on second base, Feiler caught Derrick's liner and doubled Skinner at second base.

Wert, Kentucky hurler, pitched fair ball, but after Allen's homer in the ninth, he retired in favor of Bach. The 'Cats batted Turnall from the mound in the seventh.

The feature of the game was Allen's one-handed running catch of Smith's liner in the eighth, when a hit would have meant at least two runs. Allen will join the Cincinnati Reds following his graduation in June.

SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

By
HOOVER

If all the home runs hit in the spring training camp were placed end to end they wouldn't reach first base now.

These are busy days for the concession owners out at the carnival. Every peanut left over from last year has to be dusted off and rechecked.

The Wildcats played their first game on their southern trip yesterday although the result was unknown when we went to press. They will meet Vanderbilt this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon in a two game series, after which they will return home.

From the looks of things, Kentucky will make a good showing against the strong Commodore nine. The performance against the Cincinnati Bearcats was satisfying enough and this tie should prove impetus enough to warrant three victories on the trip. It is probable that Wert will pitch the opening fray against the Commodores.

Coach Eklund and his track stars will try to hand Sewanee another defeat tomorrow afternoon when they meet the boys from off the hill in a dual meet. The form displayed against Tennessee was indeed fine and if all signs don't fail Kentucky will have as good a change as any Mister Anybody in the Southern Conference meet late in May.

Root will surely be good for 10 points and Gess will be good for eight at least. Brady, with his Southern Conference records at stake in the broad jump and pole vault, should defend them successfully, giving Kentucky at least 28 points right there. And 25 might win the meet, so the wisacres say.

Here's a headline in The Lexington Leader:

ACCIDENT SHOT FROM OWN GUN KILLS MAN
What kind of a bullet is that?

I've just been wondering what the weather man has against our athletics.

'Spose most everybody now feels like they've got something off their chest, since the races started.

Just a hint. Don't fail to get a Herald next Tuesday morning.

TIGERS REPORTED STRONG

The University of Kentucky will hold a dual meet here Saturday with Sewanee. Much interest is being manifested by all local fans as to the probable outcome. It is a known fact that the Sewanee team is strong and whether the 'Cats can take the measure of the Tigers is uncertain.

Captain Brady is expected to take the pole vault and broad jump, with Coons taking first place in the high jump. Gess should take the quarter mile and half mile with Elliott and Dowden giving good accounts of themselves in the two mile. The Hurdles will be hotly contested but it is thought that Root can easily take care of anything that Sewanee can offer.

It is hoped by the athletic department that a large crowd of students will attend the meet and give their support to the Wildcats.

CAT TRACKSTERS TRIM TENNESSEE

Kentucky Shows Improvement in Weight Events; Gess Is Star in Dashes; Coons Takes Broad Jump; Brady Loses

ROOT TAKES TEN POINTS

Kentucky's track squad, thirteen strong, accompanied by Coach Ray Eklund and one lone but enthusiastic rooter, "Bow-wow" Bowser, conclusively proved that there's nothing about the number thirteen to cause alarm when the boys from the Blue Grass slipped into the Tennessee mountains last Saturday and conquered the University of Tennessee trackmen by the decisive score of 74 to 46.

The Kentucky team demonstrated in this meet that it is rounding into real form, and with two more dual meets on the card, it should be in the pink of condition for the Southern Conference tournament, which will be held at Chapel Hill, N. C., May 15.

Tennessee started off strong by capturing first in the 100 yard dash, forcing the veteran Brady into second place, and quickly followed this victory by a second when Boggan ran the mile in 4:46. Brame, of Kentucky, finished strong for second place.

The most outstanding feat of the afternoon was accomplished by Bill Gess, who captured the quarter at :51.7 and a few minutes later ran to victory in the half in the remarkable time of 2:03. Gess is one of the most promising runners ever developed at the University of Kentucky and that some Conference records will fall before the impact of his flying feet before the season is over is almost a certainty.

In the hurdles, Root ran true to form and took both events handily. Coons annexed first place in the broad jump at 20 feet 8 1-2 inches but was beaten in the high jump at 5 feet 10 inches. Captain Brady was not forced to extend himself in the pole vault, winning at 11 feet and was high point man of the meet with 11 points to his credit.

"Red" Eliot, of Kentucky, ran the two-mile race beautifully, besting the previously undefeated Price of the Vols by a gallant sprint down the stretch on the final lap.

Gratifying improvement was manifest also in the field events on the part of the Blue and White, Anglin taking the shot at 36 feet and Creech the javlin at 144 feet in the face of a strong wind. The following men made the trip:

BALL TEAM IS ON SOUTHERN TOUR

Will Play Vanderbilt Nine in Two Games Today and Saturday; Met Western Yesterday

17 MEN ARE ON TRIP

Yesterday morning before Lexington was fully awake, the Wildcat diamond artists embarked on an L. & N. train for Bowling Green, Ky., where they played the Western State Normal school yesterday afternoon in the first of a three game Southern trip. Today the Cats are in Nashville, Tenn., all set for a two game series with the Vandy Commodores this afternoon and tomorrow.

Seventeen men are accompanying Coach Murphy and Manager Walters on their annual Southern jaunt. These players are Captain John Riffe, Jess Riffe, Ericson, Schulte, Goodwin, Derrick, Wert, Bach, Skinner, Miller, Smith, Alberts, Crouch, Adams, Voss-meyer, and Anderson.

Little is known concerning the strength of the Commodore nine, but Vanderbilt is famed over the nation for the excellency of her athletic teams. Earlier in the season Vandy dropped two hard contests to Georgia, but later atoned for these defeats by giving Alabama a severe trouncing.

Kentucky's improvement which was shown in the Cincinnati game was exceedingly gratifying to her supporters and particularly to Coach Murphy. It looks like third base will be held on a par with the other positions on the team in the future. Crouch, playing his first game at that sack against the Ohioans, performed in big league style, hitting a neat double for the first hit of the game, and besides, played a nice fielding game. Also Ericson behind the bat looks like a mainstay.

Brady, Anglin, Brame, Griffith, Akin, Kirdendall, Brown, Gess, Creech, Root, Coons, Eliot and Dowden.

FRESHMEN DROP FIRST GAME TO TIGER CUBS

With the addition of a trio of new infielders to the lineup last Saturday, the Kittens presented a much better baseball team in their game with Georgetown than on the previous week when they were defeated by Picadome. The Tiger Cubs defeated them 6 to 4 by virtue of their ability to touch every freshman pitcher for consecutive hits. However, the feature of the game was the errorless fielding of Kentucky.

THAT means "Pipa Amoroso" in the Latin, or "pipe-lover" in plain campus English. P. A. has certainly endeared a pipe to more men than any other letters in the smoke-alphabet. Because Prince Albert lets a fellow smoke all he wants to—and makes him want to!

Cool as the stare of a marble Venus. Sweet as the approach of vacation. Fragrant as spring blossoms. Think up your own similes, Fellows. You will when you pick P. A. and a jimmy-pipe for permanent roommates. Prince Albert is great tobacco, and that's not blah.

Get yourself a tidy red tin of Prince Albert today. Fill the bowl of that old jimmy-pipe to the brim and borrow a match. Then you're set for some great smoke-sessions, as sure as you're a foot high.

PRESS STAFF IS NAMED FOR YEAR

New Members of National and State Associations To Handle University News and Student Write-ups

BEGIN WORK AT ONCE

The new staff of the National Press Association for the next year has been appointed by Professor Enoch Grehan, head of the department of journalism. Llewellyn Jones will be chairman, and Joe Palmer and Catherine Carey will assist her.

The purpose of the National Press Association is to advertise the university and its staff legitimately by giving national publicity to all outstanding work done here by faculty members and students. More than thirty newspapers and educational periodicals throughout the country receive these stories. That the work is effective was demonstrated by the fact that the New York Times, upon receiving an important story recently, immediately wired for a photograph to run with it. Newspaper of such a wide reading public as the New York Times, Boston Transcript, Springfield Republican, and Courier-Journal have used material sent out by the National Press Association during the past year.

Among subjects submitted the past year have been Dr. Morris Scherago's "Treatment of Cloacitis in Chickens," Dr. J. E. Rush's "Health-o-graph," Mrs. Lafferty's information bureau for makers of more attractive homes and H. C. MacLean's discovery of a new metal which threatens to revolutionize the making of bearings in machinery.

The retiring members of the staff are: Slayden Douthitt, J. L. Crawford, and Miss Prewitt Evans.

State Press Chosen

The committee which will handle the student write-ups next year has also been chosen. The new members were named at the meeting of the retiring members late last week. This committee is known as the State Press Association and the officers for next year will be Harriet McCauley, chairman, and Charles Headley, secretary. The members will be Virginia Conroy, Rebecca Edwards, Ralph Connell, Catherine Carey, Helen Shelton, Betty Reganstein, Niel Plummer and Margaret Williams. The retiring officers of the association are Willy King, chairman, and Stanley Royse, secretary.

Go To Sunday School

Y. M. and Y. W. Urge Students To Turn Out May 2

Students are urged to observe "Go to Sunday School Day" next Sunday, May 2, by the churches of the city and by the university Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. The attendance at the various Sunday Schools will be counted and compared to that of former years.

"Go to Sunday School Day" is observed annually through the country and on that day, every Sunday School in the land endeavors to have the largest possible number of persons attend. According to James Russell, president of the university "Y," it is especially desirable to get a large number of students of the university to attend on this day as the figures are kept from year to year and are constantly cited by speakers who emphasize the religious life of the institution.

Faculty Members Will Be on Berea Program

Dean Boyd and Others To Speak at American Mathematical Association Meeting

Faculty members and students of the University of Kentucky will be on the program of the American Mathematical Association when it convenes at its annual meeting at Berea College, May 8.

Prof. T. A. Martin, state president of the association, will preside at the meeting which will be attended by both college and high school mathematics instructors from all parts of the state. Dean Paul P. Boyd, head of the mathematics department of the university, will be one of the principal speakers, his subject being "Cremona Transformations." Miss Elizabeth LeSturgeon, assistant professor of mathematics at the university, will speak on "Fundamental Calculus."

Other university speakers will be H. W. Mobley, a graduate student of the university, who will speak on mathematical problems of students, and Miss Vada Lee Nelson, graduate student, who will deliver an address on "Groups of Linear Transformations in the Ternary Field." Beginning at 10 o'clock the meeting will continue throughout the day. The visitors will be served luncheon at Boone Tavern.

The theme of the oratorio, he told me, concerns a prophet by the name of Elijah, who foretold the first great dry spell to the Israelites, and the drought that resulted preceded the Eighteenth Amendment by about three thousand years, and is supposed to have been worse. There is a chorus of 250, an orchestra of 56, besides the four soloists, and how in thunder they're all goin' to get into Woodland Auditorium is more than I can see.

I says I'd have to see a practice before I'd know what it was all about, so I trails down to the church that night to find out. Professor Lampert was directin' it, so I parked in back to see what he did. He had a musical stick that he called a baton which started the fireworks.

Offers Odds on Altos

He made a pass at the chandelier, and everybody sounded off. Then the basses started a solo and sawed it back and forth, and passed it over to the sopranos, who fondled it a bit and boosted it over to the baritones. The tenors jumped at it but the altos way over in the corner was sailin' along at top speed, and I was gettin' excited and offerin' odds on the altos, when something busted, and a tenor cracked, and the director called a halt by hammerin' on a music stand.

Favorites Skid, Smith Loses

They all clamped on the brakes, but the altos skidded, and slip out in the middle of the street, so the sopranos won the first round on a technical foul. Well, it was a wonderful thing. You got all the effect of an earthquake on Main street with the angels singin' in the distance, and a few harmonious hundercracks on the side for orchestration.

I says to the professor that he could stick all the deaf people in the bald-headed row, and restore their hearing. He grins kind of modest, and says that was just the first squad I heard down to the church, and when the whole army showed up, he'd put on a real party. I says I wished him luck. There was more dope to write about the "Elijah" than the Chicago fire, and if we wasn't hard up for space, I'd write a real oratorio about Professor Lampert's oratorio.

manner, and enunciation of high quality.

Chorus Has 250 Voices

On May 5 that wonderful production of Felix Mendelssohn, the "Elijah" will be presented. The oratorio will be sung by a chorus of 250 selected voices, augmented by the four artists mentioned above who will carry the various solo parts, several members of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, and the entire University of Kentucky orchestra which numbers approximately 55 pieces.

The entire production is under the direction of Professor Carl Lampert. Professor Lampert is director of the Central Kentucky Choral society and head of the department of music of the University of Kentucky. Some of the best professional and non-professional talent of Paris, Winchester, Georgetown and Berea is included in the personnel of the cast. The men's and women's glee clubs of the university also take part in the choruses.

Tells Bible Story

The "Elijah" is based on one of the most dramatic incidents recorded in all literature. It is the story of the children of Israel, of their worship of the god Baal, and the punishment which was meted out to them by Jehovah using the prophet Elijah as his spokesman. The test which the fallen people make to find the true God, their appeal to their respective deities, and their change of heart which comes over them when they are convinced of the power of Jehovah makes it one of the most masterful musical creations ever written.

An interesting feature of the election was the prominence of a dark horse candidate. When the results were counted, Miss Upham, the dark horse, possessed enough votes to make her an attendant. She was ruled out, however, when no record of the registration of a girl by that name could be found.

The crowning of Miss Chapman as May Queen will take place on the campus following a gigantic parade through the principal streets of Lexington.
